Voice & Music Recorders & Players

CASSETTE RECORDER

REEL-TO-REEL
TAPE RECORDER

DIGITAL RECORDING STUDIO

People started recording voice and music about 150 years ago. At first, they could make only one copy at a time • If you wanted to make another recording, the person had to sing again! In the 1930's, people started using electric microphones • Soon, a way was invented to record sound on plastic tape • Cassettes and reel-to-reel tape recorders use this magnetic tape • Today, most music is recorded on computers • You can have 1,000 songs or more stored in a small device you carry in your hand!

The Kid's Page is Sponsored by:
