Our Town May 17, 2018

Originally published November 6, 2014

The Soupster stepped out of the rain and into the lobby of Our Town's airport to pick up an express shipment. He hoped that someday the animal heads and fish lined up along the front beam could be made animatronic, like something out of Disneyland. Visitors would take it as noteworthy, the Soupster surmised, if a 70-lb. king salmon winked at them and said, "Welcome to Our Town!" or "Please come visit Our Town again."

The gangway swung open and passengers spilled out. The serious travelers flowed right out the front door, having whittled their fashion and toiletry needs down to carry-on size. The rest of the crowd oozed slowly toward the luggage carousel. At the front counter, the Soupster was told he could retrieve his package in a few minutes.

"Hi, Soupster!" said Skye Claire, sideling up next to him. Skye was a professional entertainer who holed up in Our Town periodically to hide from her adoring fans. "How's my favorite purveyor of miscellaneous items soaked in rainwater?"

"And my best wishes to you, Miss Skye," the Soupster said with a barely perceptible bow. "What's new in the entertainment business?"

"I met a talking dog," said Skye.

"I'm listening," said the Soupster.

"So, I'm in the office of a talent agent in Seattle who's trying out new acts for the annual Rainier Review," she recounted. "I'm standing by the door filling out some contract forms, when the agent lets in the next act for an audition.

"Spartacus, the Wonder Dog!" trumpets the owner of a speckled black-and-white, long-haired medium size hound. "Spartacus will now answer three questions."

"What was the owner like?" asked the Soupster.

"A bit forgettable," said Skye. "Plus, me and the talent agent are busy staring at the dog."

"Spartacus," says the owner. "What do you call the material on the outside of a tree?"

"Bark!" yelps the dog enthusiastically. The talent agent raises his eyebrows.

"Spartacus," says the owner. "Name a three-masted wooden cargo ship from the 19th century."

"Barque," yips Spartacus. The agent crosses his arms and looks stern.

"Spartacus," the owner says a third time. "What is the best brand of root beer?"

"Barq's" Spartacus says.

"That's enough, you charlatans!" says the talent agent, who comes out from behind his desk and scoots both man and dog out of the office. I slip out with them. The agent goes back inside and slams his door.

"Spartacus looks up at his owner. 'Henry Weinhard?' Spartacus says. I almost fainted."

WELCOMES Nils Jackson

Nils is bringing with him 17 years of physical therapy experience, including 14 years in orthopedic care in multiple countries and across different healthcare delivery systems. While most of his work is with everyday physical therapy care, he also holds the Specialist Certification in Sports Physical Therapy, which is currently the highest sports certification recognized by the American Physical Therapy Association. He trained in Sports Trauma at the Premiership Level of Rugby in Europe, and has been the Medical Team Leader for several multinational high school sports tournaments in Europe and North Africa. He has experience working with both civilian and military populations, including the Coast Guard, Marines, Navy Seals and an assignment as a civilian orthopedic physical therapist with NATO Allied Command in Northwoods, England. While in Europe he had a lot of fun as a Consulting Anatomist at the Royal College of Surgeons in London, England.

In addition to back care and general orthopedics, he has developed a thorough specialization in concussion care, and also has an interest in treating vertigo.

He returns to Sitka after an absence of 11 years, and is happy to be coming home. His partner, Morgan Denton, will be a newcomer to Sitka and is looking forward to her new adventure.

Sitka Kitch to host Baking with Betsy class series in July

Learn how to bake a variety of products in the Baking with Betsy classes, from 6-8:30pm on three nights in July at the Sitka Kitch community rental commercial kitchen (505 SMCR, inside First Presbyterian Church). The series will be taught by professional baker and culinary skills instructor Betsy Peterson Sanchez of St. Charles, Ill. The classes include: Tuesday, July 3 Savory Breads (Pretzels, Bagels, Crackers); Tuesday, July 10 Sweet Breads (Cinnamon Rolls, Coffee Braids, Brioche); Tuesday, July 17 Baking with Alternative Sweeteners. Betsy received a degree from the Culinary Institute of America. After a career as a pastry chef, she attended The French Pastry School in Chicago, and is currently teaching in a Culinary Program at a community college in Glen Ellyn, Ill. She is a member of The Baker's Guild and a Chef Mentor for Fox Valley Food for Health, a non-profit providing healthy meals for families going through devastating illnesses. Betsy is excited to be spending part of the summer in Sitka, where she will spend time with her daughter, Claire Sanchez, and enjoy the beauty of Alaska. Class space is limited, so register early. Each class costs $27.50/person, plus a food/supply fee split between the registered students. Donations from Sea Mart Quality Foods will help reduce the food/supply fees for this series.
