Our Town 2/27/20

Originally published May 10, 2001

The Soupster meets someone he will remember for the rest of his days

Sweat dripped from the Soupster's brow as he grabbed a final fingerhold of rock and hauled his body up over the precipice. He worked his chest, his hips and legs over the sharp edge to safety. He let out an enormous sigh of relief. The 5 1/2-hour climb had been the most arduous of his life. But he had made it! Over the ledge of rock that led to the place where the wise old bearded man lived, the one who would tell him the secret of the universe. Or at least what the Soupster should do over the next several weeks.

A well-worn path led directly from the rock's edge, so the Soupster took it. He knew lots of people had preceded him to the wise old bearded man's lair, but still the experience reeked of discovery. Up ahead he saw the shallow cave he'd heard of, where the wise old man dispensed his wisdom. Feeling humble, the Soupster removed his high-tech climbing gloves and boots, and walked inside.

No wise old bearded man. Instead, a kid with bad skin. The Soupster couldn't really tell if the kid was male or female. "My uncle is getting audited by the I.R.S. and the rest of the family is at a condo in Boca Raton celebrating my cousin's graduation from law school," said the kid. "Any other wisdom I may dispense?"

The Soupster was flabbergasted. His legs and back ached from the climb, but his head ached more as he tried to make sense of the situation. "Well, I was going to ask you, you know, some Big Questions," stammered the Soupster. "But, I mean, you're probably not... qualified..."

"I'm plenty qualified," said the kid. "I'm more qualified than anybody in my family, including my famous uncle. I'm qualified enough to know not to go to some stupid law school shindig in Boca Raton where it's a million degrees."

"Any, you know, Big Ideas, that I should, maybe, hear?" the Soupster attempted.

"No Big Ideas," said the kid. "But here's some little ones. How about stop saying 'Send a Message' and 'Zero Tolerance' when you are referring to children. That sit okay with you?"

"What's your problem?" said the Soupster.

"My problem is that's not language you should be using with your offspring," the kid said. "'Sending a message' is something the Godfather did when he left that horse head in the Hollywood producer's bed. It's something we do when we drop bombs. It's bravado when you know you are the one with the power."

"And 'Zero Tolerance'" the kid continued, "is not possible to have. No matter how gross things are, you can always come up with a scenario where you would have to have some tolerance for the situation. And if anybody is going to find out the way to test that idea, it's your kids."

"I think you're right," said the Soupster.

"Of course, I'm right" said the kid, "My uncle is the wise old bearded guy!"

Contest Procedure:

- Contestants must submit designs to the Clerk's Office at City Hall (100 Lincoln Street) on or before 4:00 p.m., March 31, 2020. Entries will be numbered so that the contestants remain anonymous throughout the process;
- The Assembly will designate a Design Review Committee, comprised of elected officials (Assembly members Eisenbeisz and Knox), city staff (the Municipal Administrator, Municipal Clerk, and Planning Director), and representation from Sitka Tribe of Alaska. The Design Review Committee will prepare a list of "finalists" for public consideration. The Design Review Committee reserves the right to reject any and all submissions without disclosure. All entrants will be notified of the results;
- Local boards and commissions will review the designs and select their top 3 favorites. There will also be review with the Sitka Tribe of Alaska government, and an open public forum to give thoughts and feedback;
- The Design Review Committee will compile feedback from the board/commission reviews and the public forum. A report will be presented to the Assembly for selection by the Assembly at the second regular Assembly meeting in May.

Entry Qualifications:

- Submissions are encouraged from current and former City and Borough of Sitka residents;
- The design must reflect the rich history, society, culture, geography, flora, fauna, economy, or other important characteristics of the area and people within the City and Borough of Sitka;
- The design must contain the name "City and Borough of Sitka"; and incorporation date of December 2, 1971
- All submissions must be entrant's original work. No copyrighted characters, images, or clip art are permitted;
- The original design must be submitted in both color and in black and white. Each rendering must be submitted on 8 1/2" x 11" paper. Electronic entries will be accepted; however, the applicant must be willing to provide a printed hardcopy if requested by CBS;
- An individual may submit only one entry in the contest;
- Each entry must be accompanied by a completed Official Entry Form; and
- The original entry and entry form must be received by the Clerk's Office located at City Hall, 100 Lincoln Street, Sitka, AK 99835, or by email, by 4 p.m. on March 31, 2020. LATE ENTRIES WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED.

***The winning design(s) become the property of the City and Borough of Sitka and will not be returned. The design(s) may be refined or modified by CBS at its discretion***

Entry forms can be found on the CBS website www.cityofsitka.com or by contacting Sara Peterson, Municipal Clerk, at 747-1811 or sara.peterson@cityofsitka.org

Climate

Sadleir-Hart Article "Our Birds Are in Trouble" - A 1st person opinion piece by Sitkan Lisa Sadleir-Hart has been published by the Anchorage Daily News. Says Sadleir-Hart, a recent Audubon report "indicates that 389 North American bird species — nearly two-thirds of those studied — are vulnerable to extinction due to climate change...So what's a weary, yet cautiously hopeful bird lover to do? First and foremost, support solutions for economy-wide, deep de-carbonization, like U.S. House Resolution 763, 'The Energy Innovation and Carbon Dividend Act'... ## DID YOU KNOW that a former Sitkan was featured during an episode of The Doctors?

On February 26th, a piece aired on the TV show 'The Doctors' about nurse workplace violence. The statistics have increased due to staffing cuts and a rise in mental health problems. In my ER, we run 3-4 nurses short on a daily basis. This creates an unsafe environment when working with mental health patients. Last summer, I was punched in the face by a patient and I've made it my personal mission to spread awareness.
