OUR TOWN

The Soupster looks through a spyglass.

Three old friends stood leaning against the Mariner's Wall, looking over the harbour and all the tied-up vessels, companionably shooting the breeze. They were watching the clouds, the boats at their moorings, and chuckling at the antics of the seagulls. Just passing the time.

"Whoah! Look at that aim," exclaimed Old Johnnie, as a gull deftly aimed his poop right down on the freshly swabbed deck of a tidy little sailboat.

"Harrarr! That one splatted on the entire deck!"

The Soupster, not exactly lurking, but also not taking part, wondered if they were always this childish.

Then their conversation veered into more sombre waters.

"I could do with a tequila, or a playa right now," remarked Bozo Slim. He was apparently still caught up in the spell of Dia de Los Muertos, just celebrated a few weeks before. His lost wife was on his mind. So, these thoughts and hangin' out by the Mariner's Wall, readin' the bricks - yeah, that sometimes got a fellow to remembering.

For fishers who never came home.

Pickled Pete would have staunchly denied there was such a thing as a tear in his eye. He was just...remembering. Those who didn't make it, and the time he almost didn't.

For Our Men Lost.

And spaghetti too? Chuckled ole Bozo, "Remember that time my boat went down, no warning at all?? I was just in the wheelhouse, cookin' up some dinner and trying to rest from a hard day's fishing - then we caught the big wave, the rogue wave, and that was it. I made it into my survival suit, hit the epiRB button and leapt for the life raft. And as my old friend disappeared under the waves, I could just spy, as she went down, my pot of spaghetti simmering on the stove, no doubt still bubbling and smelling of oregano and garlic.

"Well, we're still here" the men sighed, but they did feel a pang of loss for some good food gone down to a cold and dreadful fate.

Safe Home. Raven Radio.

"Yup, we're all here safe and thankful - ooh, look at that! Pretty close and danged disrespectful, that gull has no couth at all, I tell ya. He got his ole seagull poop right on Robert W.'s brick! Bob would not appreciate that, no-siree-Bob! Chuckles, all around.

Retired, no more fishing, no more seafood processing, gutting, catching, cleaning the gear, maintaining the boat. Just hang out and remember the good old days. Ah, remember her?

Rocked the slime line.

Good one. Then they all fell silent. Hearts were heavy. Thanksgiving was coming, and whether or not you feasted, ate sparingly of a vegan feast at your daughter-in-law's home, or sat alone, missing the ones you missed, they all knew they were pretty lucky.

Celia S. Sailed the seas to freedom.

And as one, the three friends raised their imaginary glasses of margaritas to all the brave souls who venture across oceans seeking freedom.

care giver must accompany the child. Ongoing vaccination clinics at Harrigan Centennial Hall.

Janelle Vanasse, Superintendent of MEHS reported zero positive cases in the last two screenings. She said over the last month only one individual was identified as a positive case which had zero spread. The COVID team identified ways for students to get off campus with additional mitigation. Some students will be in town on selected days to go to the grocery store and specific activities with strong mitigations in place.

Trish White, Harry Race - reported pediatric doses coming in. She said there would be a Special Vaccine Clinics for children by appt. and maybe a weekend clinic for children. She said they would be holding COVID-19 booster shots along with the flu vaccine on Fridays. The public may sign up for Covid-19 vaccinations at www.sitkapharmacies.com and for Flu Shots at www.sitkapharmacies.com/flu.

Recommendations - Face coverings strongly encouraged regardless of vaccination status. Wash your hands often, avoid close contact with others. Get tested but stay home if you feel ill, wear a face covering when around others. Clean and disinfect objects and surfaces on a regular basis. COVID-19 symptoms are similar to the flu - fever, aching, cough, sore throat, shortness of breath, and sometimes decreased sense of taste and smell. If you are concerned you might have contracted the coronavirus, contact the COVID hotline at (907) 966-8799. Outside clinic hours, contact the SEARHC 24/7 Nurse Advice Line at 1 (800) 613-0560. Enroll for a vaccination online with Harry Race Pharmacy or SEARHC. For info, visit <https://cityofsitka.org> or <https://covid19.searhc.org>. 515618c0983311fd

DID YOU KNOW

That a Sitka musical group call themselves the PCR Trio, after a test that uses respiratory RNA to detect viruses?

Rick and I have played together for years under names like 'Big Piles of Dirty Snow.' When we invited Lois to join us in 2020, we needed a name to reflect her elegance, poise and musicianship, so we came up with the 'Polymerase Chain Reaction Trio' named after the first test for Covid-19.

Sustainable Sitka Spruce

Sitka Spruce art by Kevin Doberstein

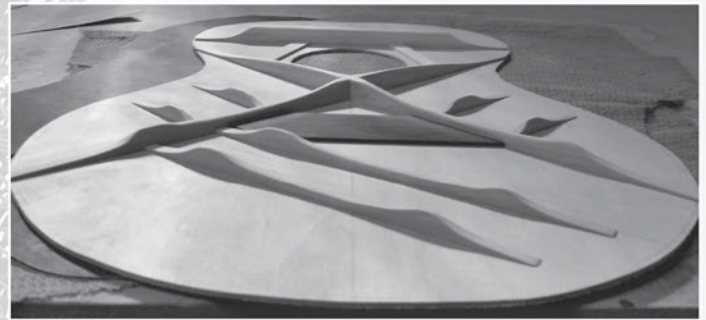

Our forests and backyards are filled with Sitka Spruce trees. While often used locally as firewood, this tree has uses of even greater value. Sitka Spruce is an ecologically important species and even Europe has caught on!

Sitka Spruce was first planted in Europe in the 19th century. Sitka Spruce growing fields make up more than 50% of forest cover in Ireland!

Sitka Spruce cuttings in an Irish nursery.

The Sitka Spruce's outstanding elasticity and strength-to-weight ratio makes it ideal for guitar making. It is the tonewood standard of today.

Sitka Spruce has become the most important timber tree in NW Europe over the last 80 years. It is fast growing, and an effective tool to sequester carbon and facilitate forest adaptation to global climate change.
