Our Town June 16, 2011

"Lock your car," said the old TV ad. "Take your keys. Don't make a good boy go bad."

The Soupster was proud that Our Town disproved the above. He was sure he was not the only person in town to regularly leave his car unlocked, which didn't seem to be making good boys go bad.

The good boys who went bad seemed to do so of their own volition, despite the wealth of unlocked cars Our Town offered. And the bad boys who went good also seemed to be piloting their own ships. Not to mention all the good and bad girls.

Now, the Soupster did usually take his keys out of his unlocked car, if for no other reason than his car made an unpleasant clanging if he didn't. Maybe, if he had left the keys in the ignition a few times, he would have made a good boy go bad. Not that he wanted to.

How the Soupster thought he might make a good boy go bad was by leaving enticing items on the front seat of said unlocked car. A bag of donuts or burgers, current magazines fresh from the post office, a spiffy new tool – those kinds of things.

Or a rented DVD.

The DVD in question was "Fair Game" about the Valerie Plame incident – she was a CIA field operative (spy) whose identity was revealed for political reasons. A thick conspiracy full of twists and turns.

And that intrigue must have infected the Soupster, because later in the evening, when he went to find the movie and couldn't, he thought that a good boy might have gone bad and stolen the DVD.

He knew Our Town was an honest place. He hated the old saying, "It's the exception that proves the rule," but he couldn't help thinking that it applied in this case.

How much did DVDs cost to replace? $30? $50?

A small price to pay for the honest waters he got to swim in, the Soupster thought. It was almost a relief to know that Our Town had a limit to its honesty. You couldn't go leaving $50 bills laying around and expect them to be there when you got back.

He went to bed a wiser, chastened man.

The next day had a glorious sun/cloud ratio and a sea breeze, so the Soupster decided to hoof it to the video store to further cement his new, sober outlook. He looked upon passersby, knowing now that every one of them probably had a dark side capable of all sorts of mischief – possibly least of all, pilfering "Fair Game" DVDs.

The Soupster swung open the door to the rental store. "I owe you some money," he told the clerk. "Someone must have taken "Fair Game" from my car."

"No one lifted anything, Silly," said the clerk, after scrolling down her computer image to an entry on the Soupster's account. "Someone found "Fair Game" in a parking lot and returned it for you."

Alternative Energy

Curious to see what a grid-tie solar system looks like and learn how well it works? Come and check it out on the "longest day of the year"! Everyone is invited to come to an open house at 131 Shelikof Way any time from 6-8pm Tues., June 21 to see first hand what a grid-tie solar system looks like, how well it is working at that moment and how it has been performing since its installation. Visit with the system's owners and the designer of the system. Ask questions to see if solar is on your horizon. Chris Duguay, owner of One Island Energy and designer of the installed system and home-owner, Michelle Putz, will answer questions. Participants should be prepared for the weather if they wish to view the grid-tie solar system. The open house will occur at the home of Michelle Putz and Perry Edwards and is sponsored by the Sitka Global Warming Group and Sustainable Sitka. A short project planning meeting will occur at then end of the open house starting around 8 pm; all who are

2 Man work crew looking for summer housing...Looking for summer housing for myself and business partner. We are two hard working guys who come up to Sitka every year during the summer to run a small but profitable lawn care business. Mostly looking for someone to split rent with. Can house/boat sit. Or possibly timeshare lease. Local ref. very clean, reliable, non-smokers, no pets, drama free. 907-223-4099 or phillipskenj @hotmail.com. Ad #19601

Professional couple looking for a rental house. Prefer longer term lease but willing to consider less. Flexible move in dates: July to Sept. References available. NS/NP. Please call 623-1063 Ad # 58524

Wanna reduce rent for the summer? Me another guy are coming to Sitka to work for the summer on 6/20/11 and we are looking for cheap housing. If you have an extra bed and a couch, or two extra beds, we would like to rent them from you for the season! Both non-smokers, non-drinkers, very clean. We have no pets, but we are pet friendly. We will be gone most of the day and really just need a place to crash at night, store our gear and shower. It's ok if you are a lady, we are very respectful and unimposing. Put the word out for us please! Ad # 35705
