Our Town September 22, 2011

"I'm in heaven!" Caleb cried joyfully, as he shielded his eyes from the blinding light in front of him. "I finally made it!" he cried once more, falling to his knees.

"Honey, please. After your antics last week, the last thing we need is you drawing more attention," pleaded his wife, Susan. She walked towards him and turned him away from a glowing orb that resembled the sun. "Besides, if you stare at that thing too long you're bound to go blind!"

That very moment, a stout woman with hearty cheeks stood up and began to walk over to investigate the cause of the commotion from next door. "Oh my. Susan, what's wrong with Caleb? I was just sitting on my porch reading the Soupster when I heard Caleb scream. Is he practicing his debut song, "Ode to Joy", for the monthly grind again?" said their neighbor Mary.

"Fortunately not. He's fine. It's just that ever since our neighbor across the street added new lighting fixtures, he's had the place lit up like Broadway every night. I swear, half the electricity in Our Town goes to his guy. I wish he would only use what's necessary, especially since electric supply is in high demand these days," Susan explained, trying to fight her agitation as she wiped the sweat from her brow.

"I hear ya," said Mary stepping forward. There are too many people in Our Town that don't realize just how low the lake levels are and how that will affect us in the coming months. Even though I try to conserve as much as possible, we will all suffer when the diesel fuel charge is tacked on if people like him don't reduce their electric load."

Heat rose inside Susan as she began to think about how expensive diesel supplementation would be. "You're right, Mary. We're all in this together and if people like him don't cut down their electric load, Our Town will see some serious problems. Like expensive surcharges, and skyrocketing electric bills, and…"

"…rolling blackouts," chuckled Mary.

"EXACTLY," stated Susan. "Remember the rolling blackouts we had last year? They were so annoying! Especially since we live all the way out on Saw Mill Creek!" Susan exclaimed in a tone of desperation.

"I remember all too well," said Mary as she recalled the memory of alternating electricity. "Not only is it inconvenient, but it significantly decreases the amount of productivity that Our Town could have on any given day. Think of all the lost business many of our friends, neighbors and family members experienced because of the rolling blackouts."

"I've heard enough. Let's go over and explain to him why he needs to reduce his electric load," said Susan. The two women linked arms and headed across the street, shielding their eyes with their remaining free hands, and disappeared into the blinding light.

Yamaha WR 250R 2009, great condition. This is a great bike for Sitka, I bought it as soon as I turned 16 so that I could have transportation, I have taken this bike down to Prince of Wales and had a great time hunting off it, the bike is light for it's size however pretty tall and works great and meets the standards of a taller guy. I am only selling the bike because I need the money for me to further my education. So if anyone wants a new bike and would like to help me through college, than call 907-738-1640, I should answer, but if I'm in classes I won't so, leave a message and I will definitely call back! If you would like to see the bike, contact me. 16448

PROPOSITION NO. 1

Shall the Charter of the City and Borough of Sitka be amended to raise the property tax limit from 6 mills to 6.5 mills, with any increased revenues used to fund certain municipal infrastructure and its maintenance?

YES ⬭
NO ⬭

Informational: The revenues gained from the property tax limit increase will be used to pay for city owned infrastructure, equipment and its maintenance, such as for city owned buildings, structures, equipment, and roads, including Sitka Community Hospital's new roof and new mammogram machine. The increased revenues will not be used for infrastructure, equipment and its maintenance for schools and enterprise funds (e.g. electric; harbors; water; wastewater; solid waste; Sawmill Cove Industrial Park; airport terminal; Marine Service Center), which have their own sources for funding.

Did you know that one-third of the land in America is yours?

Please join the Girl Scouts & staff at Sitka Nat'l Historical Park as we celebrate the 18th annual Nat'l Public Lands Day! Together we will work to clean up our treasured park. Bring some water, a friend, and a willingness to give back to your community. We will meet at the Visitor Center at 1pm. Trash bags, safety vests, protective gloves and "Leave No Trace" educational programming will be provided, along with light refreshments. There will also be park-oriented films, including works by Ken Burns, continuously playing in our lobby theater throughout the day. Prizes will also be awarded to all of those who participate. To learn more about this nationwide celebration, visit http://www.publiclandsday.org. service trip to Glacier Bay National Park! Also be sure to visit Sitka National Historical 42482
