Our Town August 23, 2012

After enduring a somewhat sketch marriage in her twenties, 34-year-old Annie was basically glad she had the romantic gumption to follow her heart and a charismatic fisherman to Our Town. But it gnawed at her that she had left a job as a retail store manager and could not find the equivalent employment here. Especially after the fisherman moved on -- after different fish, she surmised.

To Annie, becoming a saleswoman again after so many years as a manager felt even worse than the simple demotion it was. Worse still was the cut in her pay. Our Town certainly didn't feel any cheaper than where Annie had moved from. But in Our Town she had about a third less to make do with.

Bemoaning her fate is where the Soupster had expected to find his friend when he stopped by to pick up some flower bulbs that she was giving away. It was typical of Annie to be generous.

The Soupster smiled at the thought of generosity of so many people in Our Town. There was no better reason to be wealthy, the Soupster thought, than to be able to be generous with your time or your money. And here was Annie, struggling, yet using her time to give away her precious bulbs.

There are those who come to Our Town to take high-level jobs and, for them, financial discomfort may not be an issue. Others come for the mountains and the clean air (or a fisherman!) and cobble together several jobs to survive.

But that's just money, the Soupster thought. A lot of life comes from family, friends, tradition, and belief – not to mention a good subsistence halibut or three. There was little sadder, the Soupster thought, than the old miser alone with his stacks of gold coins. And little more triumphant than someone thriving on modest means, surrounded by life and love.

And just as the Soupster had that thought, he looked up to see Annie's face filled with life and love. She stood in her doorway beaming.

"Soupster," she cried out, loud enough to startle a crow, "My manager decided just this week that she wants to move back to Idaho to be nearer her parents. The Assistant Manager's boyfriend is being transferred to New Orleans and she's going with him. So guess who's going to be the new manager?"

Like to write an Our Town? It must be 450-500 words long & closely connected with the life of Sitkans. The Soupster must make an appearance in the story – even minor. If we run your story, we will pay $50. To submit: Email the story to: shop@sitkasoup.com and put "Our Town" in the Subject line. Or call 747-7595.

Film Festival at the Sheldon Jackson Museum The Sheldon Jackson Museum announces a film festival in honor of Native American Heritage Month. This film festival will begin on Saturday Nov. 5 with screenings of Rachel Naninaaq Edwardson's documentary "Nipaa Ilitqusipta - The Voice of Our Spirit" followed by Ellen Van't Hoft's "Finding Their Own Dance: Reawakening the Alaskan Alutiiq Arts". On Sat. Nov. 19 a selection of short films by Alaska Native filmmakers will be screened at 1 PM. Admission to the museum during the festival is complementary. Please contact Mary Wheeler or Nadia Jackinsky at 907.747.8981 for more information. Ad#40188

SEARHC to host Tenakee Springs clinics on Sept. 5-6 SouthEast Alaska Regional Health Consortium (SEARHC) Family Nurse Practitioner Michele Susie, MSN, FNP, will travel to Tenakee Springs to provide special clinics on Sept. 5-6 at the Genevieve Soboleff Clinic. Michele, who normally is based at the SEARHC Klukwan Health Center and SEARHC Haines Health Center, will take appointments for physical exams, well-child exams, well-woman exams, and chronic health issues. Fasting lab blood-draws are scheduled for Thursday morning (no food or drinks besides water should be consumed in the 12 hours prior to the lab). To schedule one of the appointments in Tenakee Springs, please call the SEARHC Haines Health Center at 766-6300 and leave your name and number with the scheduler. Ad#28013

Open House for USCG members and families On Wed, Sept 5, from 6 to 7:30 pm, there will be an informational open house for Coast Guard members and their families held at Air Station Sitka. WIC Farmers Market and FVV coupons are a great way to increase your intake of fruits and vegetables. They are accepted at the Sitka Farmers Markets as well as at the St Peters Fellowship Farm work parties which are held alternate Saturdays from the Sitka Farmers Market from 2-4pm. The next Farmers markets are 9/1 and 9/15 and run from 10am-2pm at the ANB Hall on Katlian. For more information or questions, call Lisa at 966-8735. Ad#76376

The St. Peter's Fellowship Farm team could use your help. The "farm" is flourishing and so are the slugs in this rainy August weather. Come meet other Sitkans who are passionate about growing local food and help tend this USDA designated "People's Garden" on Sat., 8/25 from 2-4pm. It nourishes both body & soul! Call Lisa at 747-5985 or Laura at 738-7009 with questions. Ad#56506

Award nominations needed for Sitka Health Summit Do you have a friend or neighbor you think is a fine example of a healthy role model or wellness champion? The steering committee for the sixth annual Sitka Health Summit, "Working Together for a Healthier Sitka," is accepting nominations for awards that will be presented during this year's summit, which takes place Oct. 3-6 at various locations around Sitka. These awards are for Sitka residents who have made outstanding contributions or served as role models in one of six categories — physical activity, nutrition, safety/injury prevention, tobacco prevention/control, holistic health and general well-ness. We will honor adults, youth, elders, policy makers, health care providers and Sitkans of all walks of life who make our community a healthier place to live. The awards will be presented during the Sitka Health Summit Awards celebration, which takes place on Wednesday night, Oct. 3, at the Sheet'ká Kwáan Naa Kahídi. Each nomination should include a brief description of why this individual or group deserves an award, and it should provide us with contact information for both the nominator and the nominee. The awards are our way to recognize and thank Sitka's unsung heroes of community wellness for their contributions to Sitka's health. Nominations should be received by Penny Lehmann no later than Tuesday, Aug. 28. Please e-mail nominations to sitkahealthsummit@yahoo.com, telephone them into Penny at 747-3255, or mail them

A single pencil can write a line about 35 miles long • A mark made with a pencil will not fade in the sunlight • Most pencils are yellow, a tradition going back more than 100 years • People call the writing part of a pencil "the lead" but it is actually made of graphite. Colonial Americans bought most of their pencils from England, but their supply was cut off during the Revoluntary War. So the colonists learned to make their own pencils!
