Our Town Oct. 9, 2014 The Soupster does monkey business

"Books about monkeys?" the Soupster asked Bobbi Lincoln, who was walking out of Our Town's relief pitcher library while our starting pitcher library undergoes renovations.

"Indeed," said Bobbi, an animated wisp who seemed to switch perches effortlessly. "I've been thinking a lot about monkeys. Monkey see, monkey do." She held three books about monkeys.

"Have you ever heard that if you put enough monkeys at enough typewriters, one of them will type the Sitka phone book?" the Soupster quipped.

"I've heard they type King Lear," said Bobbi. "Besides, what's a typewriter?"

"Ha, ha," said the Soupster. The Soupster liked Bobbi, which he indicated with a broad smile. Bobbi indicated her mutual affection by quick head movements. She switched perches again.

"We are so lucky to have a back-up library," said the Soupster.

"I just found out the library moved," said Bobbi. "I don't know how it escaped me. I'm spending too much time online, obviously." She tilted her head.

"The news must have reached the hundredth monkey," said the Soupster.

"What?" asked Bobbi, standing on one foot.

"So there was supposedly this group of islands, each island with a different group of monkeys living on it with no contact between any of the groups," explained the Soupster. "And the monkeys had to eat dirty sweet potatoes – don't ask me why. And then one of the monkeys on one of the islands figured out how to wash the sweet potatoes. The other monkeys on that island imitated the first monkey and washed their potatoes too."

"According to the theory," the Soupster continued, "when the hundredth monkey on the first island washed his sweet potatoes, monkeys on the other, unconnected islands started washing theirs, too."

"Sounds like a fruity theory," said Bobbi.

"You're right," said the Soupster. "The theory is hockey pucky scientifically. But it does have an element of truth. When ideas reach a critical mass, they do seem to take on a life of their own and emerge at the same time from seemingly unconnected groups."

"Of monkeys?" chirped Bobbi, switching perches.

"Could be monkeys," said the Soupster.

"I gotta go," said Bobbi. "Lots of monkeys today," she called as she flew off.

"That's why we measure 'em in barrels!" the Soupster called after her.

Like to write an Our Town? It must be 450-500 words long & closely connected with the life of Sitkans. The Soupster must make an appearance in the story – even minor. If we run your story, we will pay $50. To submit: Email the story to: shop@sitkasoup.com and put "Our Town" in the Subject line. Or call 747-7595.

College

The annual Sitka College Fair will be held on Wed. Oct. 15 at Sitka High. Juniors and seniors from SHSI, Pacific High School, and MEHS should plan to attend the event, along with home school students. Parents are welcome, as well. Colleges from across Alaska, Hawaii and the lower 48 states are sending representatives to this trade show-style exhibit. Students will be able to gather literature and other giveaways, learn about programs and schools that interest them, and perhaps discover colleges that they did not know existed. Exhibiting colleges currently committed to attend include all the University of Alaska units -- UAA, UAF, UAS -- plus (in alphabetical order) Alaska Christian College, Alaska Commission on Postsecondary Education, AVTEC, California Maritime Academy, Central

Ed. Note: Classified Ads & PSAs often are edited in the printed Soup, but the full ad or PSA is listed online. See Ad#s at the end of nearly all the ads.

Local Food

Sitka Conservation Society Wild Food Potluck Sunday, November 2 at Centennial Hall 5-7 pm Please arrive with a dish to share no later than 5:20 pm. Come celebrate Alaska's wild food bounty with friends and family! Bring a dish featuring food that was fished, foraged, picked, hunted, or cultivated in Southeast. If you don't have any wild food to share, simply garnish your dish with some local flowers or garden plants. Dinner will be served around 6 pm. Prizes will be awarded for first place in the following categories: Best Entree, Best Side Dish, Best Dessert, Most Creative, and Best Kids Entry. All entries should include a wild or local food. This event is open to the entire community! Interested in volunteering at the potluck? Email sophie@sitkawild.org Ad#813541

Thanks and a Local Food Fundraiser Today (Thursday, Oct. 2) Alaskans began receiving their AlaskaPermanent Fund Dividend checks, which are $1,884 this year. Recently, many Alaskans have chosen to share that wealth with state and local nonprofits through the Pick.Click.Give. program. Your Sitka Local Foods Network joined the Pick.Click.Give. program this year, and we'd like to thank the 56 donors who pledged $2,900 to help us promote and encourage the use of locally grown, harvested and produced foods in Sitka and Southeast Alaska. We thank you for supporting the Sitka Farmers Market, community gardens, a community greenhouse, sustainable uses of traditional subsistence foods and education for Sitka gardeners. You also can support us by attending the Sitka Local Foods Network Harvest Fest fundraiser from 6:30-8:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 23, at the Del Shirley Room upstairs in Allen Hall on the Sheldon Jackson Campus. This event will feature a silent auction for a variety of food- and garden-related items and services. In addition, the Lexicon of Sustainability photos will be on display, we will give a short update on the state of local food in Sitka, there will be live music, light refreshments featuring local food will be served, and we will pour locally brewed beer (for those age 21 and older) and root beer from Baranof Island Brewing Company. This is a family oriented event, and there is a suggested donation of $5. Again, we thank you for your support, Ad#193542

Wanted

Sitka National Historical Park is now accepting applications for a WG-04 Custodial Worker for the winter-spring 2014-15 season. This full-time, temporary appointment is expected to last from approximately November 16, 2014 to May 15, 2015. As a member of the park's maintenance team, this position will perform custodial work, grounds maintenance, snow removal and related jobs. Work will take place at sites such as the Totem Unit of Sitka National Historical Park, the historic Russian Bishop's House, as well as other park facilities. Any U.S. citizen may apply who has acquired special knowledge or expertise regarding the natural or cultural resources of Sitka National Historical Park, by reason of having either lived or worked in or near the park. The areas considered within Sitka are: Baranof Island, which includes the communities of Sitka and Port Alexander, and small communities of a seasonal nature including Little Port Walter, Baranof Warm Springs, Biorka Island and Warm Springs Bay. Applicants will not qualify for this position if they have only lived and worked in the areas considered on a temporary seasonal basis. This level of knowledge would be acquired by having lived or worked in or near the park for at least 12 months, to include all four seasons. Short seasonal residency is not qualifying as this would not provide the level of knowledge or expertise that is gained through experiencing the range of climactic conditions and associated impacts on the resources. The WG-04 Custodial Worker earns $19.56 per hour, generally works a standard 40-hour week, and is entitled to paid holidays and both annual and sick leave. This position may involve weekend work or performance of duties before or after "normal" working
